Article: this is a complete piece of writing on an issue of public interest. It usually contains views or opinions of its writer on a specific issue or topic. An article is specifically for publication in a magazine or a newspaper.

The audience for an article

1. The school community: an article for school magazine.
2. Local community: an article for local newspaper.
3. Foreign readers: an article for foreign magazine.
4. National community: an article for national newspaper.

Useful hints on writing a good article

1. Content: the content depends on the topic you are asked to write on, but you must write on all aspects of the question to earn a good mark. Your points must be relevant to the question.

2. Organization: you are expected to write the title of the article clearly on top of the article. You are expected to write an introductory paragraph in which you are to give readers an insight to your topic.
3. Expression: your language should be formed since you are writing an article for publication in a newspaper or magazine. Write in simple straight-forward sentences and avoid using slangs.

Organizing an article writing

1. Write just the title of the article and go straight to the introductory paragraph. Do not use letter writing format.
2. Choose an eye-catching title, as readers go for articles with interesting captions.
3. Go straight to the point.
4. If the article is on a controversial topic, make reference to previous articles supposed to have been contributed by others on it.
5. Write your full name and address at the end of your article. If for a school magazine, write your full name and class.

STUDENTS' ACTIVITY: the students listen attentively.
