

Phrasal Verb

Phrasal verbs are combinations of a verb and one or more particles (typically prepositions or adverbs) that function together as a single semantic unit, often with a meaning that is different from the individual meanings of the verb and the particle(s) alone. Examples include "turn up," "give in," and "take off."

Structure of a Phrasal Verb

The structure of a phrasal verb typically consists of a main verb followed by one or more particles, which are usually prepositions or adverbs. These particles can come before or after the verb, depending on the specific phrasal verb. Here are the basic structures:

1. Verb + Preposition

Example:

"Look up" (verb + preposition)

Example sentence: "I need to look up that word in the dictionary."

2. Verb + Adverb

Example:

"Turn off" (verb + adverb)

Example sentence:

"Please turn off the lights before leaving."

3. Verb + Adverbial particle + Preposition

Example:

"Make up for"

Examples of Phrasal Verbs and their meanings.

1. Turn off: Meaning to stop the operation or flow of something.

- Example: "Please turn off the lights before leaving."

2. Look up: Meaning to search for information in a reference source.

- Example: "I need to look up that word in the dictionary."

3. Take care of: Meaning to be responsible for someone or something.
 - Example: "She takes care of her younger brother."
4. Put on: Meaning to place something on oneself, typically clothing or accessories.
 - Example: "He put on his coat before going outside."
5. Give up: Meaning to stop doing or trying something because it seems too difficult.
 - Example: "Don't give up on your dreams."
6. Break down: Meaning to stop working properly or to fail.
 - Example: "The car broke down on the highway."
7. Come across: Meaning to find or encounter unexpectedly.
 - Example: "I came across an old photo while cleaning out the attic."
8. Go on: Meaning to continue or proceed.
 - Example: "The meeting will go on as scheduled."
9. Turn down: Meaning to reject or refuse something.
 - Example: "She turned down the job offer."
10. Look forward to: Meaning to anticipate with pleasure.
 - Example: "I'm looking forward to seeing you again."

