

ADJUNCT OF TIME AND PLACE

Adjunct of Time and Place

An Adjuncts are optional elements in a sentence that add extra information. Two common types are Adjunct of Time and Adjunct of Place.

TYPES:

1. Adjunct of Time:

An Adjunct of Time tells when, how often, or how long an action happens.

Examples:

She arrived yesterday at night

We pray everyday in the morning.

He will leave the airport at dawn

They will meet us at the Palace today

2. Adjunct of Place:

An Adjunct of Place tells where an action happens or the direction of the action.

Examples:

The children are playing outside.

She lives in Abuja.

He went to the mosque.

The book is on the table.