

SS 1 ENGLISH LANGUAGE WEEK 1

SPEECH

TOPIC: Intonation Pattern Rise and Fall

Intonation is the rise and fall of the voice in speech or the variation in speech while speaking. It gives special meaning and emphasis to utterances.

FUNCTIONS OF INTONATION

1. Grammatical function: This is used to differentiate between specific sentence types – declarative, interrogative, polar questions etc. when a speaker wants to give information, the falling tone is used.
2. Attitudinal function: The attitude can be that of surprise, doubt, sarcasm, interest, indifference, disbelief, uncertainty. For instance, when a speaker answers “Yes” in reply to a question, different shades of meaning can be inferred. If given in a falling tone means affirmation, meaning there is no doubt. But when it is given in a rising tone, it suggest some reservations (doubt) in the speakers mind.

COMPREHENSION

READING PASSAGE FOR WORD

TOPIC 3: MEANING IN CONTEXT OR READING FOR CONTEXTUAL MEANING

Contextual meaning of a word is the meaning of a word in relation to other words in the sentence. As we read a given passage, we come across some difficult words whose meanings we do not know. However, the surrounding words can help one understand the meaning.

Therefore, the meaning of such word ceases to depend on the single word but takes into consideration the context or the situation in which the word is used. Example

1. Our get-together comes by the month of August (month of the year)

2. I am expecting an august visitor (important visitor)

Uses

Contextual meanings are required in answering a comprehension questions that demand finding another word or phrase that means the same and can replace as used in the passage.

STEPS TO UNDERSTANDING WORDS FROM CONTEXT

1. Read the passage very well to gain general understanding of the passage.
2. Pay more attention to sentences with difficult words.
3. Try to figure out the meaning of such words not in isolation but with other surrounding words.
4. Replace it with another word that can fit in such environment or the context.
5. Read through the new words to make sure it fits in grammatically.

Assignment

TOPIC 4: STRUCTURE

TYPES OF SENTENCES IN STRUCTURE

Simple, compound, complex, and compound complex sentences

There are different types of sentences based on structure. They include; simple, compound, complex and compound complex sentences

A. Simple Sentence

A simple sentence contains one idea and one verb. It consists of one independent clause. Examples

1. Rose went to the market
2. She bought a lot of goods

B. Compound Sentence

Compound sentence is a sentence which contains two or more independent clauses that are joined together by co-ordinating conjunctions like; and, but, either or, neither nor. The major feature of compound sentence is that it can contain two or more ideas.

Examples

1. Rose went to the market and she bought a lot of goods
2. John came yesterday and saw his bag on the table.
3. He came, he saw and he conquered
4. She tried hard but failed in her attempt
5. We can either eat spaghetti or take some wine.

C. Complex Sentence

A complex sentence contains one main clause and one or more subordinate/independent clauses.

Examples;

1. This is the boy who was caught stealing oranges

Here, the second idea depends on the first to make a complete sense.

“This is the boy” is the main clause while; “Who was caught stealing oranges” is the dependent clause.

2. When the rain stopped, the dancing competition continued.

“When the rain stopped” is a dependent clause that derives its complete meaning from the main clause “the dancing competition continued”.

D. Compound Complex Sentence

A compound complex sentence contains two main clauses and at least one or more dependent clauses.

Examples

1. We ate the food which was kept on the dining table for us but we were not satisfied. The above compound complex sentence can be broken thus;
 - i. We ate the food but we were not satisfied (compound sentence containing two independent clauses).
 - ii. Which was kept on the dining table for us (dependent clause).Therefore, compound complex sentence contains two independent clauses.

More examples:

1. While the children were sleeping, the dog stole into the room and ate the raw meat.
