

1. Speech

Speech is the act of expressing thoughts, ideas, or feelings to an audience using spoken words. It is a primary tool of communication used to inform, persuade, entertain, or inspire.

- Purpose To convey a message that influences thinking, feeling, or action.
- Key elements: Speaker, message, audience, channel, feedback, context.

2. Speech Writing

Speech writing is the process of crafting a spoken message in written form before delivery. Good writing makes delivery natural and impactful.

Steps to write a speech:

- Analyze Know your audience, occasion, time limit, and purpose.
- Research: Gather facts, stories, quotes, stats relevant to the topic.
- Structure with introduction, body, conclusion.
- Use conversational language, short sentences, vivid words.
-

3. Kinds of Speech

Speeches are grouped by purpose:

Example Occasions

*Informative Educate or explain facts Lectures, reports, briefings

Persuasive Convince or motivate to act Campaigns, sales pitches, debates

Entertaining Amuse or engage emotionally After-dinner talks, stand-up, toasts

Demonstrative Show how to do something .Tutorials, product demos, workshops

Special Occasion Mark an event or honor someone Weddings, funerals, graduations, awards

Most public speaking

Read word-for-word News broadcasts, formal declarations

*Memorized Delivered from memory Dramatic performances, recitations

4. Features of a Good Speech

A strong speech usually has these traits:

- Clarity: Simple language, clear main idea, logical order.
- Audience-centered Content and tone match who's listening.
- Strong opening Hooks attention with a story, question, fact, or quote.
- : Introduction → body with 2-3 key points → conclusion.
- Every part supports the central theme or thesis
- Vivid language: Concrete examples, imagery, emotion, minimal jargon.
- Appropriate length Respects time limit; every word earns its place.
- Memorable conclusion: Summarizes, gives call-to-action, or ends with impact.
- Written with pauses, emphasis, and gestures in mind.

Birthday party

Weddings

Dinner party

Farewell speech

Entertainment

Condolences

Naming Ceremonies

Guidelines

A speech is meant to deliver to an audience with the use of present tense

No name at the end of the speech

Slangs and humour should be avoided

It should be in four sections headings, introduction, body and conclusion.