

Article Writing

Content

Definition, Features, Sample Question, Outline

An article is a type of writing that is meant to be published in a school magazines, a newspaper or a journal.

Basic Features

It must have a heading

It must have an introductory paragraph

Its body should contain at least three well development paragraphs which should serve as the content of the writing. When added to the introductory and concluding paragraphs, the writing should not be less than five paragraphs. But it can be more

It must contain a concluding paragraph

Write your full name and your class, school, town or city as the situation may require.

Outline: Women in Politics

Topic/Heading

Introduction: Men have dominated the political space for long

The effects of men's domination

The need for women's involvement (equality, less corruption, compassionate, talent use, example from other countries)

Conclusion: challenge the audience