Teacher's Activities

Meaning of an Adjectival Clause

An adjectival clause is a subordinate clause that performs the function of an adjective by describing or modifying a noun or pronoun in the main clause.

An adjectival clause usually begins with relative pronouns such as:

- who
- whom
- whose
- which
- that

Examples:

- The boy who won the competition is my friend.
- This is the book that I bought yesterday.

Students' Activities

Students listen attentively and take notes.

Step 3: DISCUSSION

Mode: Entire Class
